46th ANNUAL MEETING

PRELIMINARY PROGRAM

Inflection Point: Setting the Course for the Future of Scholarly Communication

May 29 – May 31, 2024

Westin Boston Seaport District
Boston, Massachusetts

ANNUAL MEETING WEBSITE

Society for Scholarly Publishing

Join us May 29 –31, 2024, for the Society for Scholarly Publishing's 46th Annual Meeting

Huge growth in proposals and publications, a greater focus on researchers as both author and reader, evolving open access publishing models, and the urgent need for equity and inclusion are disrupting traditional publishing infrastructure and processes. In addition, the explosive capabilities of artificial intelligence will likely disrupt every facet of scholarly communication but represent both opportunities and threats. We are at an inflection point—our decisions will determine the value we deliver as an industry and the values we reflect as a community.

The meeting will be held in Boston with a virtual attendance option, including live and on-demand content. The health and safety of our attendees are prime concerns, and we will monitor them and be ready to modify plans as needed.

As always, the SSP community brings together academics, funders, librarians, publishers, service providers, technologists, researchers, and countless others with a communal interest and stake in disseminating scholarly information. We look to the 46th Annual Meeting as an opportunity to continue this tradition and welcome all colleagues and community stakeholders.

All individual members and staff of organizational members receive the member discount to attend the Annual Meeting.

Code of Conduct

The Society for Scholarly Publishing (SSP) is a community-run organization committed to diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility. This includes providing a safe, welcoming, and productive environment that fosters open dialogue and the free expression of ideas, free of harassment, discrimination, and hostile conduct, at SSP meetings and events, whether held in person or a virtual format. We have a shared responsibility for creating and maintaining that environment for the benefit of all.

SSP is committed to supporting equitable opportunities and respectful treatment for all participants in our activities, regardless of gender, sexual orientation, gender identity/expression, physical or mental ability, disability, age, physical appearance, race, ethnicity, religion, political affiliation, nationality, or any other protected characteristics. We seek to be a welcoming community in which you can consider and debate a range of relevant viewpoints respectfully and inclusively. View the full policy on SSP's website.

Moderated Discussion
The Rise of the Machines

While Generative AI gets closer to peak expectations on the hype cycle, automation, and machine learning have long been features of scholarly communications. However, the explosive growth in capabilities (and expectations) over the last year has started to reshape our visions of our industry's future. Will automation inexorably take over every aspect of publishing, and what roles will humans continue to play in this tech-driven future? Join our panel of experts to discuss how AI may profoundly change what we do and how we do it as we look up from current experimentation to debate where we're heading.

Oxford-style Debate
Has the Open Access Movement Failed?

Open Access was intended to solve the problems of accessibility, affordability, and equity in scholarly communication and has fundamentally reshaped scholarly communications in the 20+ years since the Budapest Open Access Initiative. And yet, a longtime and respected commentator on the open access movement, Richard Poynder, recently declared that the Open Access movement has failed, noting that it had failed to solve affordability and equity and that improvements in accessibility were at risk from the deteriorating geopolitical situation. This Oxford-style debate will see two teams debating the resolution "The OA Movement has Failed," with the winner based on audience votes before and after the debate. Don't miss this exciting final session for the conference, where your participation will decide the outcome!

Volunteer Opportunity and Committee Fair | May 31 | 12:15 pm

Meet our committee chairs and learn about the benefits of volunteering with SSP!

Industry Breakout Sessions

Your registration includes opportunities to learn about industry challenges and solutions on Wednesday afternoon in these 30-minute sessions. Plan to arrive by noon to take advantage of this content provided and sponsored by industry knowledge experts.
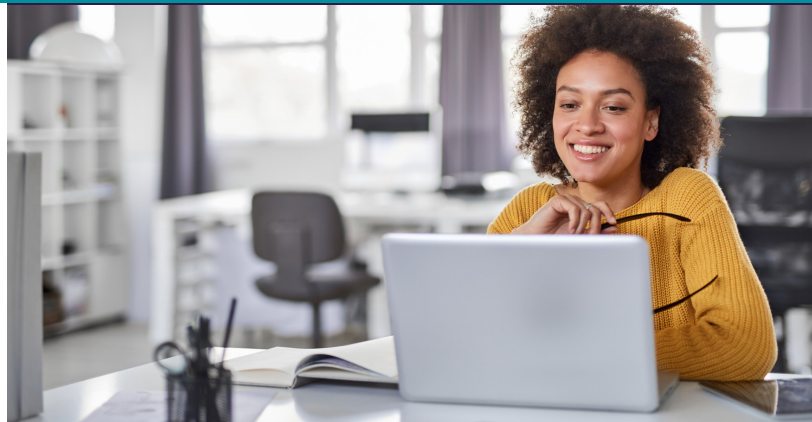

Networking

Attendees will enjoy ample opportunities to meet colleagues and share ideas at evening receptions, facilitated discussions, and other events.

Exhibitors Marketplace

The SSP Annual Meeting allows attendees to explore new ideas, products, services, and technology. Our exhibitors are committed to supporting SSP's membership and invite you to visit their booths, ask questions, and take advantage of their expertise.

Poster Session

Posters provide an avenue to share additional content with attendees and lead to more in-depth and interactive information exchanges than is possible in educational sessions. Check out the posters throughout the Annual Meeting in the Exhibitors Marketplace and the dedicated poster presentation sessions.

Virtual Attendance

Can't join us in Boston? Then the Virtual Registration Option is for you! While there is nothing quite like attending the Annual Meeting in person, we recognize that not everyone has the opportunity or ability to travel. As a result, we are excited to offer virtual attendees this opportunity to stay current on the latest industry topics alongside in-person attendees. Virtual attendance provides the perfect opportunity for industry professionals to attend the SSP 46th Annual Meeting on their terms.

All keynotes, plenary sessions, and selected educational sessions will be streamed live May 29 – 31, 2024. The live stream will include speakers and any presentation materials. Virtual attendees can submit questions to speakers during these sessions via a chat facilitator, so you'll feel like you're right in the room! Participants can also chat in real-time with other attendees via the virtual meeting platform for online networking. Several additional online networking opportunities will also be available for virtual attendees.

Recordings of all other sessions in the program will be available on demand in the meeting platform/app within 48 hours after the session occurs. The meeting platform/app will also contain posters and a complete attendee list.
